

Telequipment

The World's Finest Low Cost Oscilloscope

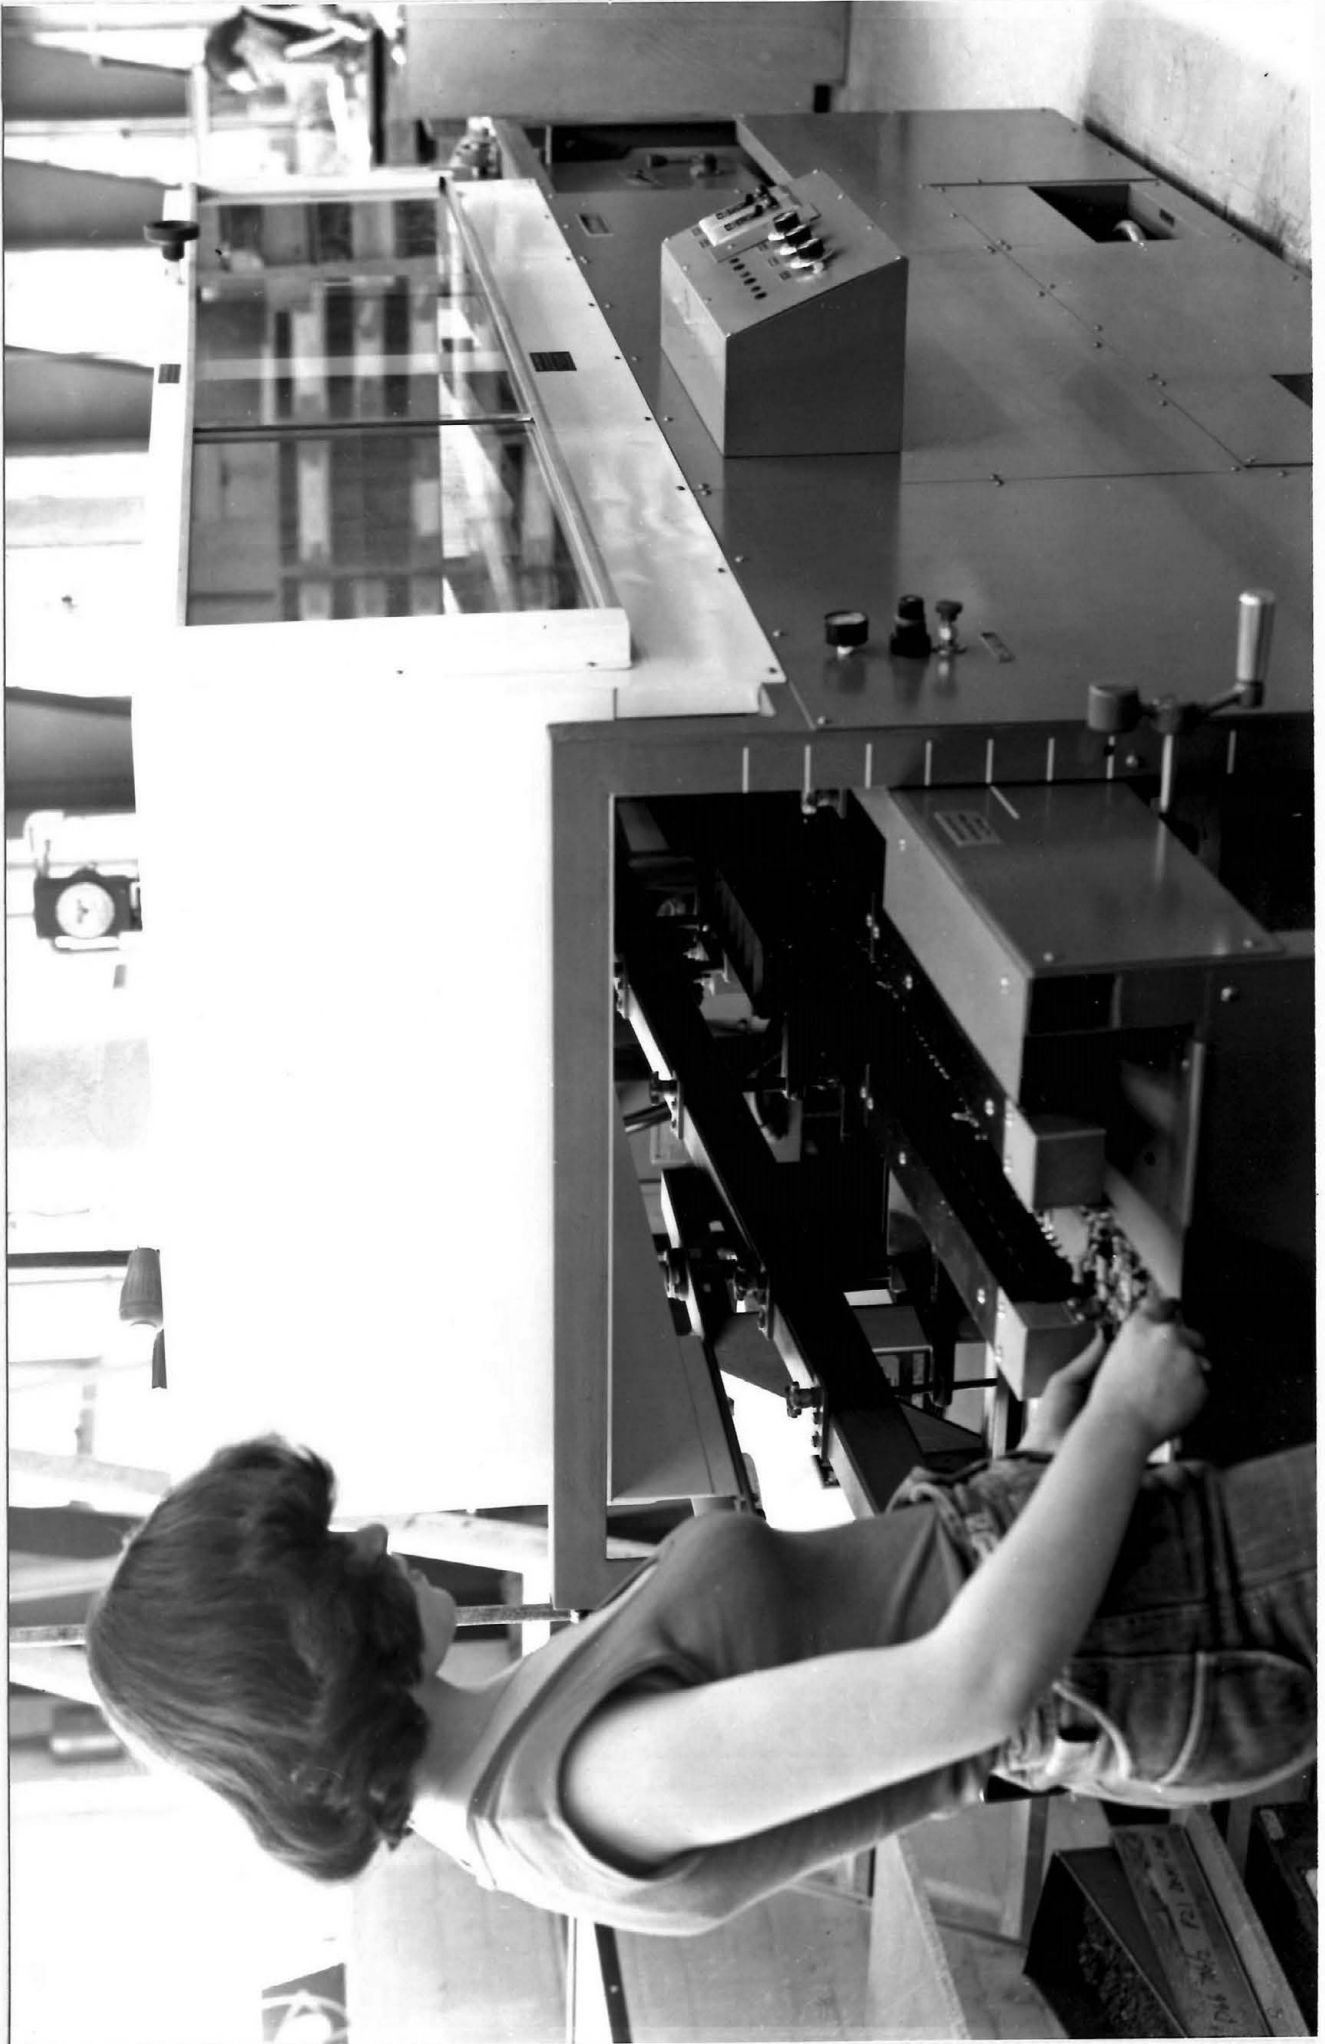

A section of the main piece part stores.

The Ferco automatic, component insertion and crimping line.

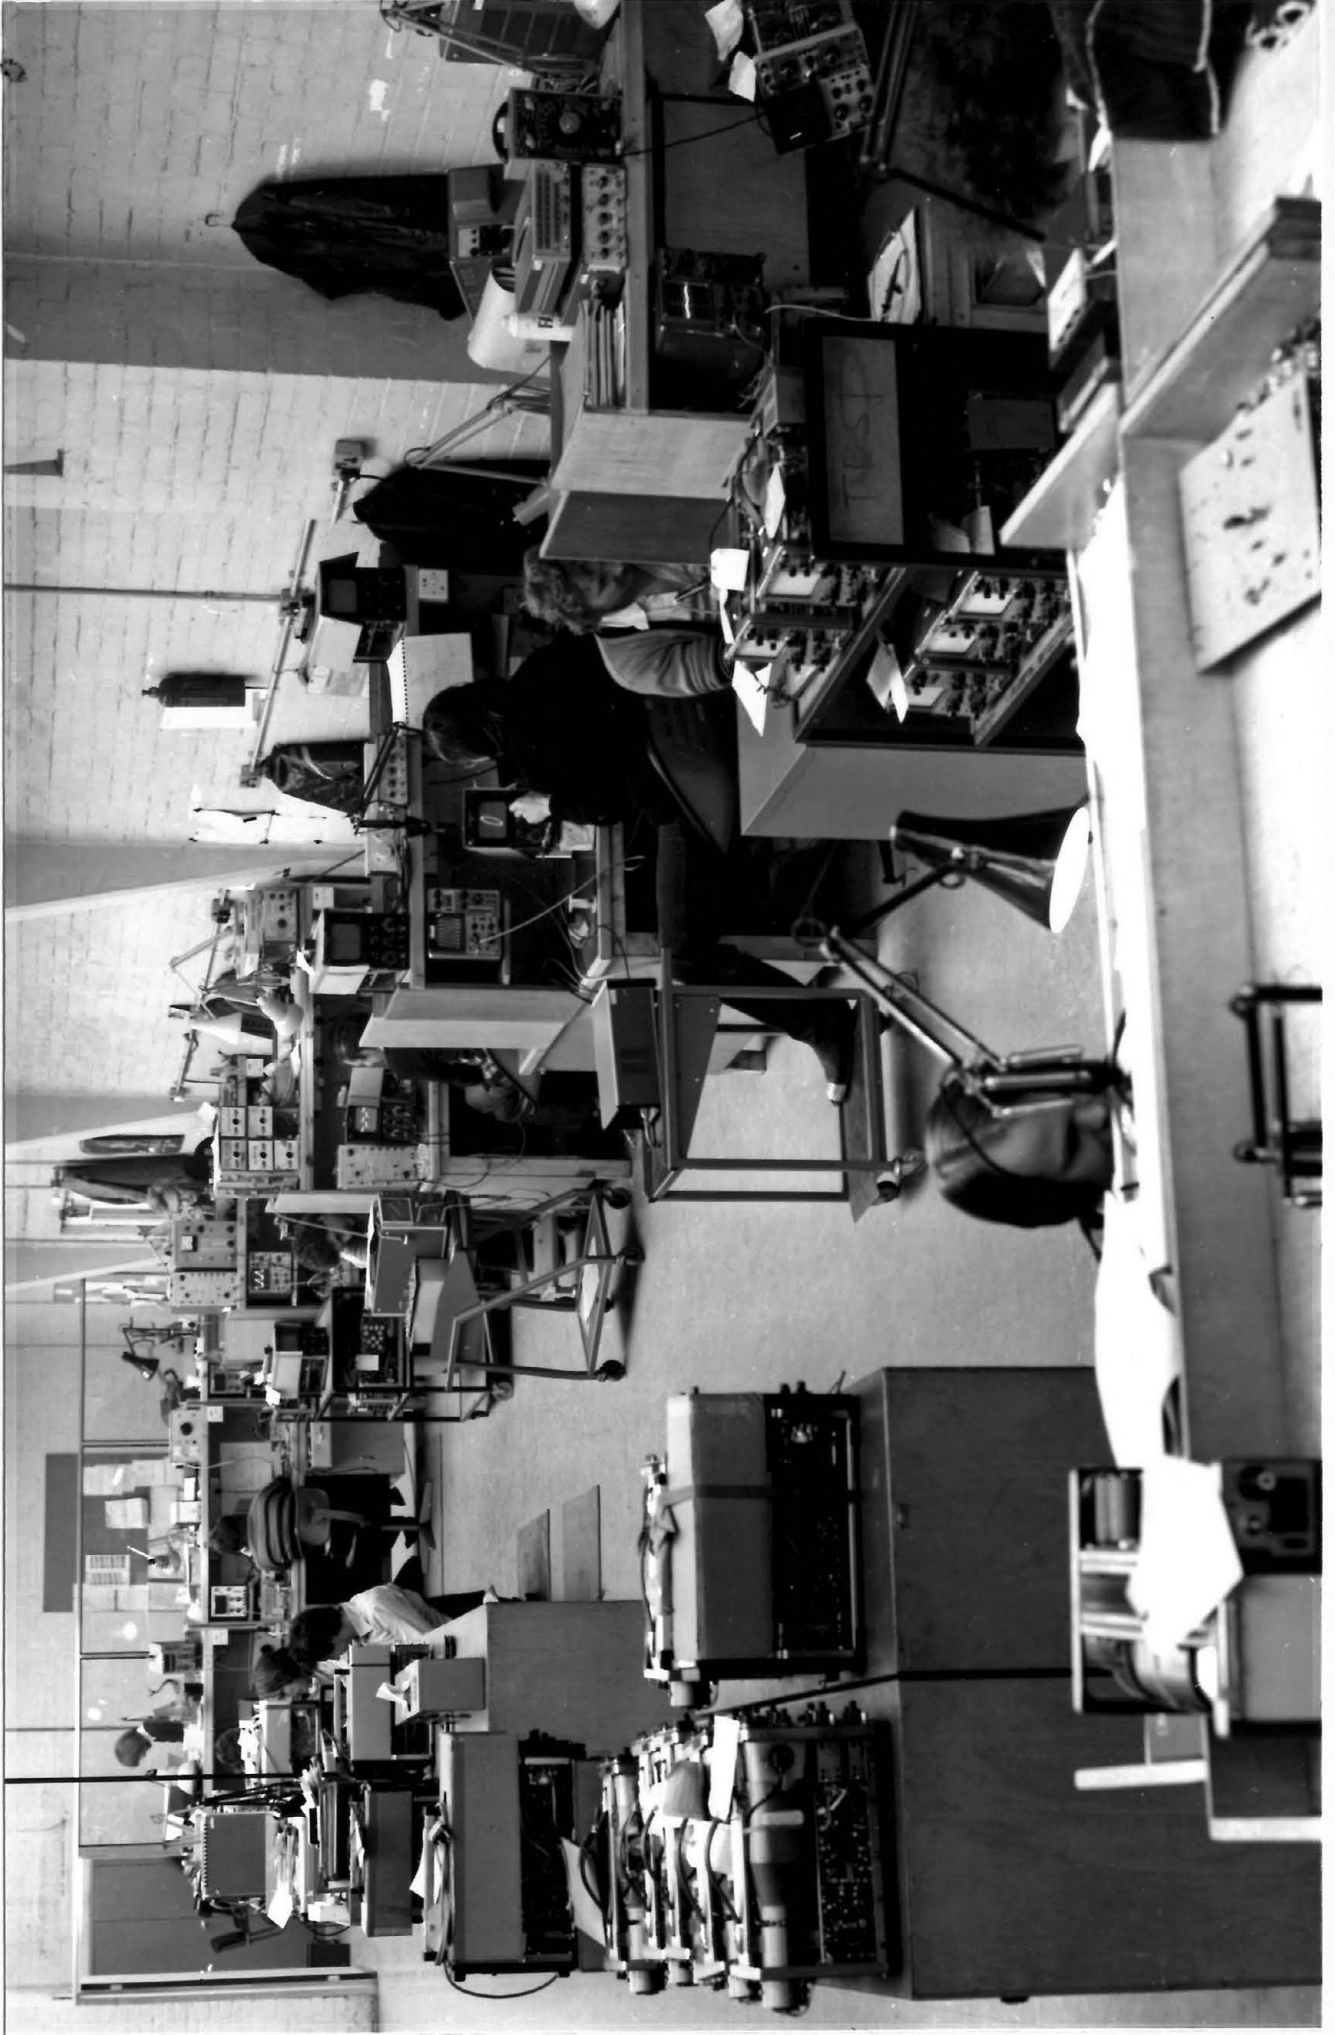

Part of the manual printed circuit assembly area.

This shows an operator on the flow soldering machine which handles the bulk of all production and some prototype boards.

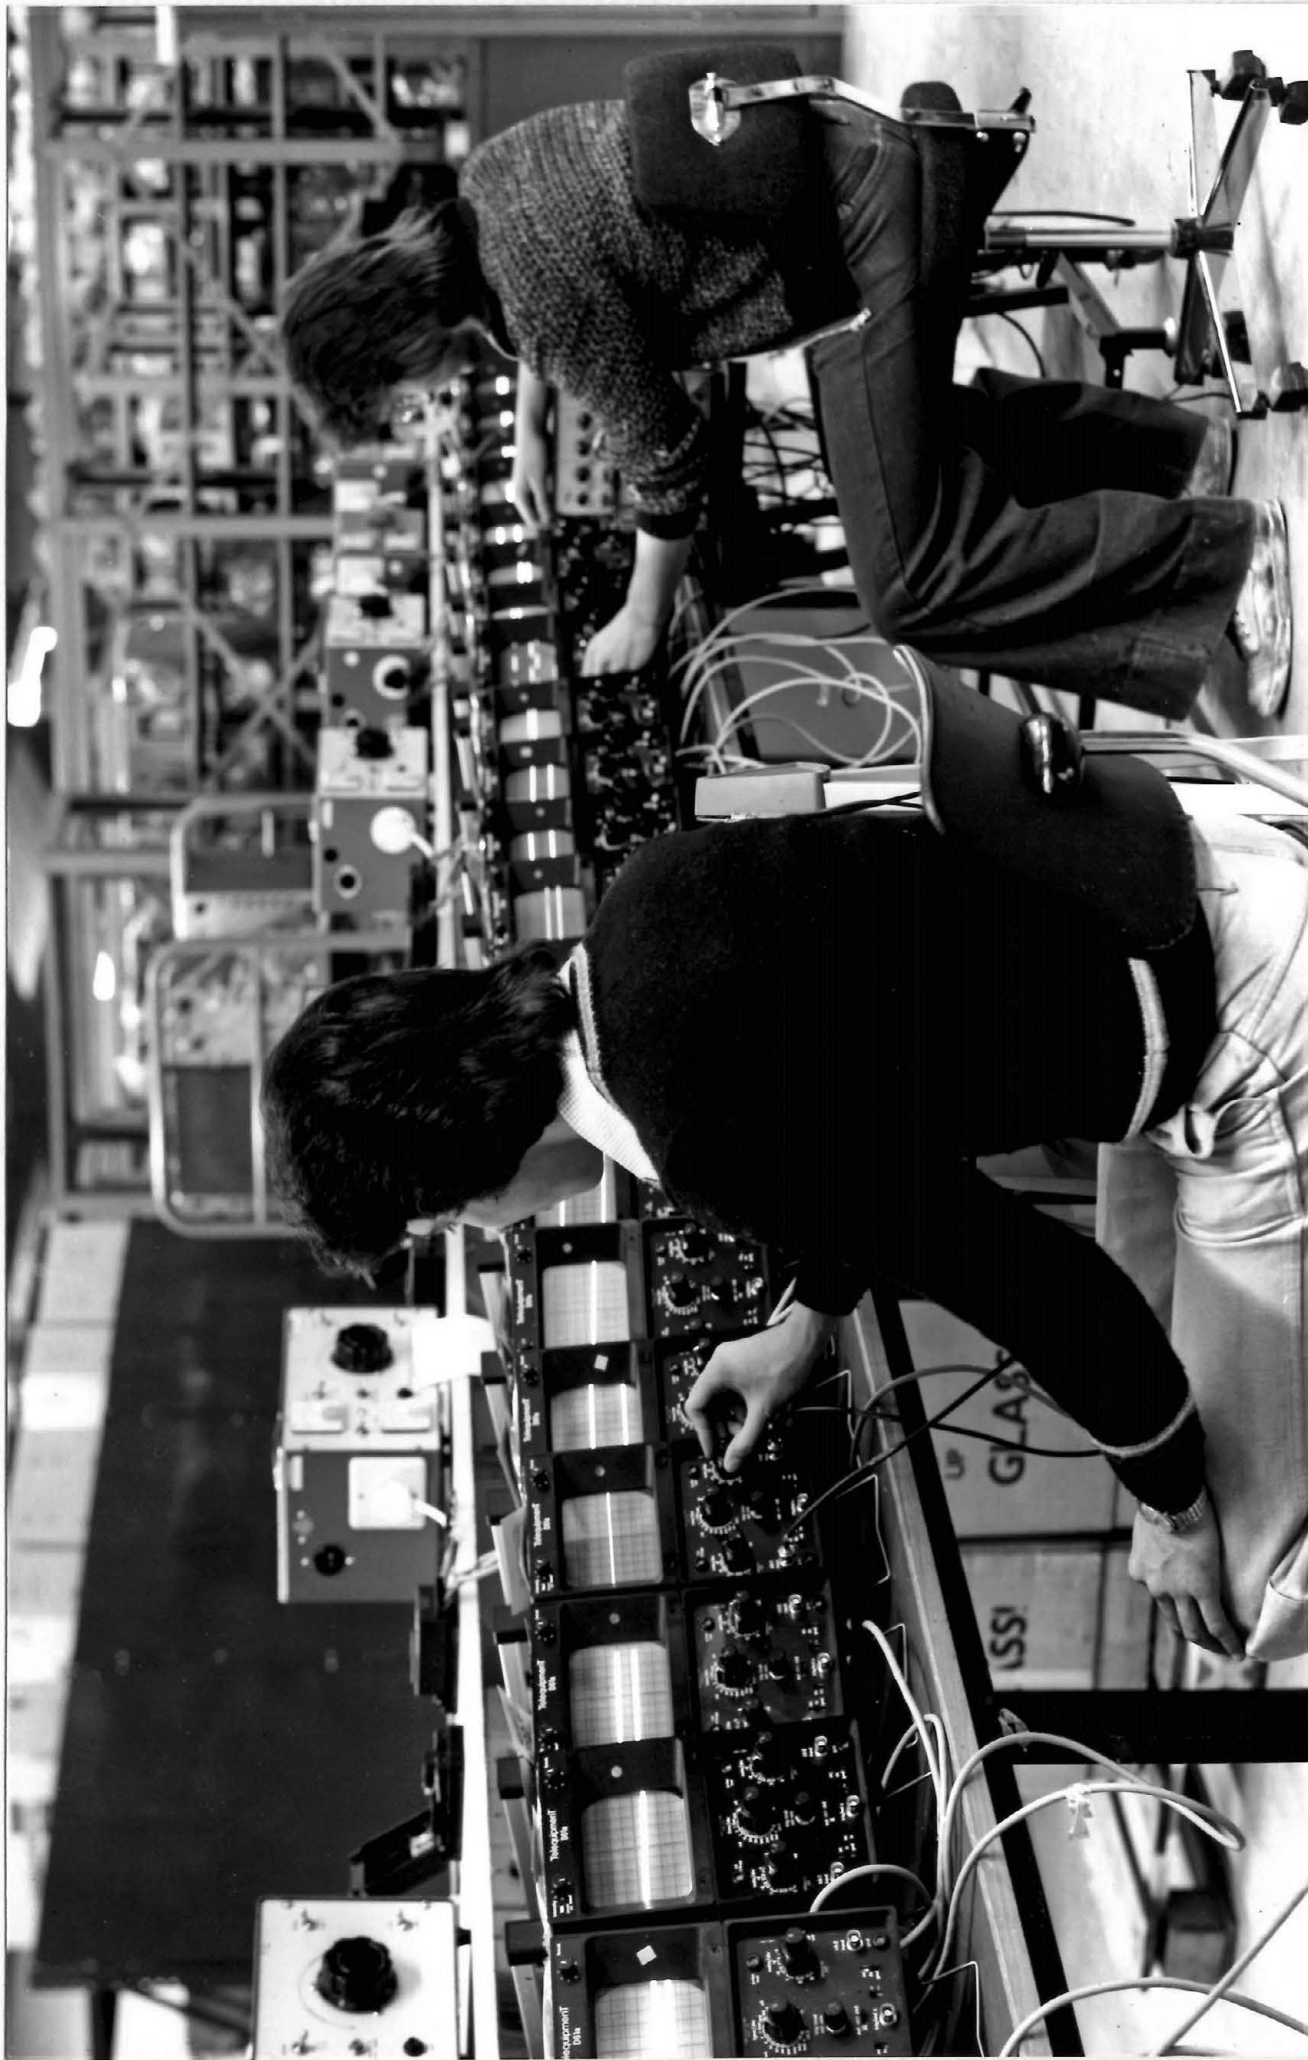

The Hoddesdon main assembly area.

A view of the production, fault finding and rectification area at Hoddesdon.

A view of the switching area where all oscilloscopes are switched on for an initial basic check.

A small section of the finished goods stores.

This shows the training school where all new assemblers and wiring staff undertake their initial training.